

Learn something new this summer!

And start preparing yourself for the 2017-2018 school year.

Summer Learning Series 2017

July 18th - Google Apps for Administrative Assistants B.Y.O.D.

Crash course on all G-Suite apps to help administrative assistant streamline their workflow.

July 19th - Streamline RTI with Google Apps

In-depth look at using Google Apps to make your RRI and I&RS procedures fast and easy.

July 25th - Improve your Cohort Graduation Rate and Lower Your Suspension Rate with RTI

Provides research-based and multi-tiered Response-to-Intervention (RTI) strategies to get at-risk high school students back on track and enhance your cohort graduation rate.

August 2nd - K-6 Standards Based Report Cards 2.0

Update your standards-based report cards to improve parent engagement, growth mindset of students, and enhance your schools RTI program.

August 8th - Everything You Need to Know About Makerspaces

Explore ways to help bring the Maker Culture into your classroom with Google Apps For Education.

August 15th - Get your Curriculum 2018 QSAC Ready with Hybrid Web-Based PLCs

As educators, our time is limited. Utilizing Google Apps and Web 2.0 tools to organize Hybrid Professional Learning Communities

August 21st - Chromebook Camp: A Crash Course for 1:1 Classroom Teachers on G Suite

Hosted at the Palisades Park High School, this intensive session will prepare teachers to integrate G Suite Apps in their classroom.

August 23rd - The Highly Effective 1:1 Math Classroom

How can we effectively integrate 1:1 technology in a Math Classroom? Find out what research has to say to support this movement and learn the strategies needed to make this transition a success.

For additional information & to register, visit our website at cesp.rutgers.edu or call 732-564-9100, 11