INTRODUCTION TO THE PROGRAM

The Alternate Route program is a non-traditional teacher preparation program designed for aspiring teachers who have not completed a formal teacher preparation program at an accredited college or university, but wish to obtain the necessary training to become a NJ certified teacher. As a partner in the New Jersey Provisional Teacher Program, Rutgers University—Center for Effective School Practices (Rutgers—CESP) works with the New Jersey Department of Education to offer 200 hours of formal instruction to alternate route provisional teachers seeking standard certificates for elementary (K-5), ESL, and N-12 subject areas. The Rutgers—CESP regional training center, coordinates essential pedagogy classes in Newark, Hackensack, Paterson Somerset, Mercer, Camden and Rockaway, accommodating a variety of novice teachers, some of whom are career changers seeking greater job satisfaction and others who are recent college graduates seeking to make a difference through teaching.

To meet the diverse needs of our teaching candidates, Rutgers—CESP recruits a cadre of outstanding course instructors who have a wealth of educational expertise, classroom and administrative experiences, and repertoire of teaching and management strategies that any developing teaching candidate would treasure. In addition to the minimum requirements for an advanced education degree and 3-5 years of teaching experience, each course instructor has extensive classroom and administrative experience and can offer helpful, practical feedback on issues germane to both teaching and navigating the alternate route program requirements.

The curriculum for the Alternate Route Training is driven by the New Jersey Professional Teacher Standards and includes a survey of curriculum and assessments, student characteristics and learning styles, theories of motivation, classroom management and organization, and an introduction to current education industry leaders and vocabulary common to educators. Further, the curriculum is supplemented by the facilitated experiences of the regional training center faculty, who in some instances team-teach sessions to offer as broad a perspective possible given the various placement assignments of the teaching candidates.

Classes are held in 4 hour sessions one evening per week and in 8 hour sessions on designated Saturdays. The teaching format for the classes is a lecture/seminar style with the provisional teachers taking on some responsibility in class discussions as the course instructor guides the class through its examination of the pedagogical topics. The classes are also held in a blended learning format where technology is leveraged for candidates’ flexibility in completing course objectives or continued engagement during snow days or unforeseen scheduling challenges.

To ensure that instruction is meeting its intended targets, teaching candidates are assessed through a combination of special projects, written assignments, class participation, and demonstration lessons. Guided by the instructor, teaching candidates collaborate on the preparation of scoring rubrics for assignments and, thereby stake a claim in their own development and accountability measures. Achievement ratings are outstanding, satisfactory, and unsatisfactory and are awarded according to one’s performance in assessment areas.

Q. What is the process to receive a Certificate of Eligibility?
   A. Please see “Certification 101” on page 5.

Q. What classes can I take without a job?
   A. You can take the 24-Hour Pre-Service class, the 45-Hour Math class, and the 45-Hour Literacy class, all of which are offered completely online, without having a teaching job. All other classes require a Certificate of Eligibility AND a contractual teaching position.

Q. Which classes are offered online?
   A. At present, the 24-Hour Pre-Service class, the 45-Hour Math class, and the 45-Hour Literacy class are all offered exclusively online.

Q. Which classes require in-person attendance?
   A. The classes in our 200-Hour Series (Phase I, Phase II, Phase III, and Accelerated Phase I) all require attendance at the scheduled locations and times.

Q. Do I need to purchase any books or materials?
   A. No, all the resources you will need will be provided to you at the start of the class.

Q. What is the format for the 24-Hour Pre-Service class?
   A. It is offered completely online. At no time are you required to attend a class in-person. You will also be required to complete a 4-hour classroom observation. (See next question.)

Q. What does the 4-Hour classroom observation entail? Do I need to observe an actual classroom setting?
   A. It is preferred that you complete an onsite observation in a classroom in the subject matter you intend to teach; however the instructor will provide an online video for those who do not have access to a classroom, especially during the Summer sessions.
Q. Do I need to be technologically savvy to take an online class?
   No, all you need is a computer, basic internet service, and a Web browser, plus the ability to upload documents. We assure you, it’s really that simple.

Q. What is Sakai?
   A. Sakai is our “online classroom.” It is the Web-based course management system we use to run our online classes. This is how instructors will provide the syllabus, course materials, and assignments to students. It provides students with a way to interact with their instructor and each other, ask questions, and submit completed assignments.

Q. Do I need to be online during the hours posted in order to get credit for an online class?
   A. No, the class is operated asynchronously. You can log on at any time once the class begins. However, there are set deadlines for completing class assignments.

Q. I am a Sabbath observer, therefore I cannot attend Saturday classes, is there another time I can make this up?
   A. The instructors for both our online and in-person classes will make flexible accommodations for people with religious obligations.

Q. Will there be a grade given for the class?
   A. There are no “traditional” grades. For the 24-Hour Pre-Service class, you will receive a certificate of completion for satisfactory work. For all other classes, you will receive a Regional Training Center Report with a rating of either “unsatisfactory”, “satisfactory”, or “outstanding.”

Pre-Service Classroom Observation Letter

TO: Principal/Director
FROM: Heather R. Ngoma, Director
Alternate Route Training Program
Rutgers University—Center for Effective School Practices
RE: Pre-service Candidate Observation

Rutgers University—Center for Effective School Practices is an approved provider for The Introduction to Teaching P-3 and 24 Hour Pre-service Program for Alternate Route Teaching Candidates now required by the New Jersey Department of Education.

In addition to completing coursework, candidates are required to observe for 4 hours in a classroom that matches their intended Certificate of Eligibility. Elementary candidates must observe literacy and content areas in an elementary school. Middle and secondary candidates must observe several classes in the four-hour time period in their intended content area.

Pre-service candidates are asked to apply knowledge acquired through the course while observing the student-teacher relationship in the classroom. Candidates must document the experience using a classroom observation protocol provided by the Center.

Candidates must also have their observation forms signed by designated school personnel to verify the completion of the observation.

It is our hope that you will work with us to help our alternate route pre-service candidates complete this important part of the program by permitting the observation opportunity.

Thank you for your anticipated support. If you have questions, please feel free to contact our office at 732.564.9100.
